Athenaeum Club Discuss India

India, not only a sub-continent of vastness but of vast extremes has a population of 350,000,000; one fifth of the human race. There are two hundred and twenty languages used. It is the birthplace of most of the great religions. Today, Buddhism is the religion of almost one-third of the human race. Buddha has probably nearly as many followers as both Christ and Mohammed together. In a religious sense there is a Hindu India and a Mohammedan India. The Hindus are in the overwhelming majority.

These are a few of the facts brought forth when the Athenaeum Club discussed India at their monthly meeting Monday evening.

A subscriber renewed his subscription to the Raymond Recorder recently. He also sent the Recorder the following letter explaining how it was possible.

"In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition due federal laws, country laws, corporation laws, brother-in-laws, Mother-in-laws, sister in laws, and outlaws."

"Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax, and excise tax. Even my brains are taxed. I am required to get a business license car license, hunting, fishing license, a truck license and a dog license."

"I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, the unemployment relief, the gold digger's relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the town, including the Red Cross, the black cross, the purple cross and the double cross."

For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, accident insurance, business insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old-age insurance and fire insurance."

"My business is so governed it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected suspected, disrespected, rejected, detected, examined, reexamined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need of the human race."

"Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down and robbed until I am almost ruined."

"I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that happened, I could not enclose this check. The wolf that comes to many doors now days just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money."

Canada's Foreign Trade

FOREIGN TRADE IS AN IMPORTANT ELEMENT in the economic structure of any nation and it is closely connected with the progress and prosperity of the people. The story of Canada's foreign trade since 1939 has been an encouraging one. Before the outbreak of war in 1939, the Dominion's external commodity trade was estimated at $1,500,000,000. From that time on it rose steadily until in the years 1944 and 1945 it exceeded $5,000,000,000. Canadian exports at that time included large shipments of war materials. In 1946, when these were no longer required abroad, the volume of trade dropped to $4,000,000,000, which still shows a very substantial increase over the pre-war figures.

Has Surpluses To Sell Abroad

While the population remains at the present level, Canada will always have surpluses, including products of her farms, forests and fisheries for export to foreign countries, and we know only too well that our prosperity depends to a large extent on the demands which other countries make for these goods which we have to sell. Since 1939 Canadian export trade has increased from a total of $800,000,000 in 1939 to $2,300,000,000 in the first post-war year, 1946. The peak was reached in 1944 and 1945, when shipments of war materials and other goods to foreign countries amounted to $3,500,000,000. Imports have also advanced steadily, but less spectacularly, having increased from $65,000,000 in 1939 to nearly $2,000,000,000 in 1946.

Much Progress Has Been Made

The general rise in Canada's foreign trade, in respect to both imports and exports, is an indication that phenomenal progress has been made since the pre-war years. Comparison of the volume of trade in 1939, the last year before the war, with the volume in 1946, the first post-war year, reveals an increase of some $2,500,000,000. Experts are of the opinion that the figure for 1947 will likely be higher than that for 1946. Newsprint, wheat and wheat flour headed the list of Canadian exports for 1946, and Great Britain, the United States and France were our biggest customers. However, a notable increase was made in shipments to Latin America, twenty countries there having purchased agricultural products and manufactured goods from us last year. Much of the growth of Canada's export trade has been due to the war and to the great need in Europe for food and materials for rehabilitation. However, officials are of the opinion that there is an immediate prospect of a recession in foreign trade, and it is to be hoped that we may be able to retain the present volume, which has such an important effect on the progress and prosperity of this country.

USE SPRAY GUN TO DISINFECT CATTLE

RENFREW, Ont.—Making its first appearance to Eastern Ontario farmers, a power spray gun began disinfecting 2,000 head of Bromley township cattle of warble and heel flies recently.

F. Q. Dench, county agricultural representative, said 75 farmers have combined to fight the injurious effects from the flies that yearly infest their herds. The spraying area extends from the Bonnechere river to Snake river and the whole operation will be completed in one week, he added.

The sprayer, the latest in agricultural development over the common hand rubbing method to combat infestation, is connected by a 200-foot hose to a gasoline-powered engine and spray tank mounted on a converted army truck. Spray ingredients used are rotenone and wettable sulphur. The fee charged to each farmer is 20 cents per head of cattle.

Mr. Dench is anxious to see the machine in county-wide operation. He stated that the sprayer may be obtained by communicating with the county agricultural office.

NEW NERVE DISEASE PUZZLES DOCTORS

A mysterious nerve disease which concentrates particularly in the fingers, legs and toes, has been reported by Dr. Robert Wartenberg, assistant clinical professor of neurology in the University of California Medical School.

Wartenberg said the unnamed disease followed no discernible pattern, was no handicap but was very stubborn.

The neurologist said he had studied the disease for 10 years but still could not trace its cause. He said it apparently was the result of a virus of low virulence which attacks the skin or superficial nerves of the human body exclusively.

MOSCOW GUARD CHANGES — Many major problems were left unsolved when the foreign ministers' conference closed in Moscow recently. Here is the ceremonious changing of guard.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

They were walking arm and arm. "Darling," she said coyly, "which do you like better, a homely woman with great intelligence or a pretty girl without brains?" "Honestly, sweet," he replied, "I prefer you to either."

The six-year-old heir apparent returned home dejectedly from his first day at school.

"Ain't goin' to that ole school tomorrow," he muttered.

"And why not?" asked his mother.

"Well," the youngster replied, "I can't read and I can't write, and they won't let me talk—so what's the use?"

The conceited young man was even more boring than usual.

"It's a fact," he said with pride, "that people often take me for a member of the Guards."

His pretty companion, wasn't impressed.

"Really," she drawled. "Shin—railway—mud—or black?"

"My father has influenza all the time."

"Doesn't he know that whisky is good for influenza?"

"Yes, that's why he has it all the time."

A Welshman who was very proud of his bass voice was describing a wonderful dream he'd had.

"I was in a mighty choir," he said, "5,000 sopranos, 5,000 altos, 5,000 tenors—all singing together double forte."

"It must have been wonderful," said the listener. "But what about the basses?"

"That was it," said the dreamer. Suddenly the conductor stopped the choir and, turning to me, said: "Not quite so loud in the bass, please, Mr. Jones!"

The shepherd's daughter was going to marry a town-dweller. Wishing to make her father look smart at the ceremony, she got him to agree to wear a hat. The shepherd went into a store.

Clerk: "What size, please?"

Shepherd: "I don't know."

Clerk: "We'll try a six and a half first."

Shepherd: "Six and a half be hanged. I wear a 16 collar, and I know my head is bigger than my neck."

Farmer: "Let me tell you, my friend, that horse knows as much as I do."

Friend: "Well, don't tell anybody else; you might want to sell him some day."

The Kansas City Star got in trouble a short time ago through switching headlines. On the same day the highly respected wife of the Kansas City mayor passed away, and the city's oldest and ugliest lee house burned. Unfortunately the heading over the passing of the good lady read "Another Eyesore Gone".

"Johnson is so conceited."

"Yes, on his last birthday he sent a telegram of congratulations to his mother!"

"Pilots can do anything a bird can do nowadays," boasted the armstronged young man.

"There's one thing they can't do like a bird," said his friend.

"Oh, and what's that?"

"Sing sweetly while sitting on a barbed-wire fence."

British Policy Is Praised By Smuts

Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, commenting on British policy, said: "A profound change has come in recent years over British policy—a change still little understood in the world at large. Some people still speak of British imperialism as a baneful factor to be combatted. The fact is, it is no more. It departed this life more than a generation ago—such as it was its heyday was in the nineteenth century, especially in the great days of the Victorian era. In the Boer War, it probably played its last hand. In that war and the peace which followed the crust of imperialism was broken and the deeper forces of the real British spirit once more emerged to the surface. The story of that miracle of peace making is written large in the history of the new South Africa, and has become part of the history of the world. The commonwealth of nations has arisen, and the new pattern is spreading through the whole British Empire; both at home and abroad wherever the British flag flies, there is a new spirit of liberation, a new outlook which inspires the whole vast group of mankind."

NECESSARY TO FILL OUT FORM TO GET U.S. MONEY

OTTAWA.—The Foreign Exchange Control Board said Canadians drawing any United States money from Canadian banks now had to fill out a form.

Previously a Canadian going to the U.S. on a visit could draw up to $100 in U.S. currency without any formalities. Any additional "reasonable amount" could be obtained by getting a permit from a bank.

The board said the new step had been taken because it had been found that some persons were going from bank to bank, drawing up to $100 from each so that their final total was well beyond the $100 limit.

SHIP DESIGNED TO MEET EMERGENCIES

The Cunard White Star liner Queen Elizabeth, actually a "ship within a ship," has two bottoms—an inner and outer—with an intervening space of nearly six feet divided into numerous watertight compartments. This construction was devised as precaution against just such mishaps as her recent grounding near Southampton.

Peanuts were known as far back as 950 B.C.

Schoolboy Bowls 450 Score While Playing Hooky

TORONTO.—A Toronto schoolboy of 13 bowled himself into trouble recently. If he hadn't gone out and rolled 12 consecutive strikes for a perfect score of 450 in a five-pin game with a chum, his mother probably would never have known he played hooky from school.

His sin found him out when the manager of the bowling alley phoned the boy's home to get his age.

"That's how I found out he wasn't at school," said his mother.

The boy, William Mills, has an average of 225 in the suburban East York Men's League in which he bowls and his best previous string of strikes was seven or eight in a row.

Toronto bowling authorities said they believe he is the youngest bowler in Canada to get a perfect five-pin score.

Prince Rupert To Have Great Industry

The Vancouver Province says: Prince Rupert, which was described in the Legislature as a "neglected city," is to have a great industry.

The Provincial Government has persuaded the Celanese Corporation of America to establish a plant on Watson Island, eight miles from the city, and to spend $15,000,000 on buildings and equipment. Approximately 1,000 men will be employed in the woods and the mill.

An interesting feature of the bargain is the corporation's undertaking to maintain the forest area allotted to it in perpetuity.

Above she demonstrates how deftly she can thread a needle despite her handicap. Her parents say she helps with the farm work although she has had her new "arms" but a few weeks.

END OF LINE IS SURPRISE DIP IN DETROIT RIVER — End of the line for this Canadian National Railways mail car was a surprise dip in the Detroit river at Windsor. FISH AND PARKING SPACE HARD TO GET AT BEAVERTON PERCH RUN — Off to an early start, large numbers of fishermen turned out for opening of the perch season at Beaverton, Ont. Ardis Shane displays her catch—a perch and whitefish. Parking space for perch fishermen was at a

MY WEEK

by R. J. Deachman

I watched a school boy coming down the street this morning. He was young, quite young, perhaps seven years of age. He had on a new pair of rubber shoes. There was a puddle along the side of the road and he stepped into it.

In order to study the effect of the mud on his new footwear. Then he contemplated them sadly. He liked clean rubbers better than dirty ones so he slipped his hand into his pocket, pulled out a clean "handkerchief" carefully wiped the mud off his rubbers and slipped the handkerchief back into his pocket. I know now why mother's hair grows gray.

Some time ago I made some remarks about the weather in which I pointed out that in Ontario we had a fairly decent winter but spring still seemed a long way off. True, the snow is gone, but the air is cold. On this day, the day after the biggest I saw the first sign of swelling buds on the elms. Last night I noticed that in Winnipeg, so the papers say, and who can doubt their word for it, the temperature was 82 degrees. Yesterday in White River the cold storage point of Ontario, the thermometer stood at 62 degrees, 2 degrees higher than Ottawa. Today "prob" says "very cold, snow". That is not a playful note for April 30th, 1917, perhaps when the income tax is paid we shall feel happier, if not warmer.

What would the budget have been this year if we had missed the two years through which this country has passed in the last thirty-three years?

Would we have had any income tax now? What would have happened to prices?

We might have spent much money on other things if there had been no war. There are always of spending. Wilder social services might have been adopted. The whole picture would have been different. Every thing now costs more than in 1914. Taxes, of course, would have risen somewhat beyond the old level but we would probably have escaped the income tax. Reduction in price, rather than an increase in wages, is normally a dynamic factor in lifting the standard of living. Low prices means a gain for all, with definitely more employment for labor. An increase in wage rates is a gain only for those who receive them and quite frequently leads to a reduction in total employment.

There have been several occasions in the past few years when there existed a definite tendency towards a lower price level but the threat of war and rearmament in Europe helped to drag us down. So the income tax remained with us and is likely to remain for many years.

In the United States the income tax has been substantially lower than our, now ours will be somewhere round the American level. This at least relieves some pressure, eliminates a cause of complaint. After all a medicine which makes one feel better is helpful even if it doesn't cure.

OPINION OF WORLD OPINION

Christian Science Monitor

Ah! Model A!

New cars are caviar, says a writer on the previous page. That is never true. This was a used car world for most of us clear from the depression to the war. And it all began when the manufacturers began telling us we wanted bigger and better cars for bigger and better money. In particular, when Ford abandoned A and went to V.

Model A! Quiet there, old foolish heart. Remember only that it rattled a little, it wasn't fast, the "coop" was close quarters and the "coach" always looked as though a fresh breeze would turn it over. But memory says it turned on a nickel parked on a dime, and ran on a quarter. It got you there and what was the hurry?

The road, in truth, far more than destination, was the delight of the blessed one who owned a "roadster". To fold the windshield and feel the blast shake the cheeks and tear at the eyelids . . . to wind through the hills when the moon was full and a still young person at one side perhaps blending the soft soprano with the driver's baritone . . . yes, and to arrange the top in a sudden shower, and to feel the friendly hard bane of the leather cushions after standing in the summer sun—ah, what it was to be alive when the world was new and Mr. Ford offered the model A roadster!

Then leap again old heart. Ford promises to put out a new low priced light weight job next year. The greatest change since the introduction of the Model A. Turn back, O time; can it not be the model A?

SAFE DRIVING FILMS ARE DRAWING CROWDS

Safety in driving is winning fresh support in the province, and this is being aided in no small way by the showing of "safe driving" films provided by the Alberta Motor Association.

These pictures have been shown at meetings by Sgt. J. Muir of the R.C.M.P. and have created great interest. In one central Alberta town 300 people attended the showing. Many brought along members of their families and all were singularly impressed.

Such pictures have a wide effect on impressing on citizens the need of driving carefully to avoid accidents. When it is realized that there is a narrow margin even in speed between the safe and dangerous accident points, it is realized that every care is required.

Young people driving cars as well as the older ones need to have the dangers of speedy or reckless driving brought home to them and this is what the safe driving films do. They also have resulted in many school boy patrols for the protecting of children when crossing intersections.

Oat Varieties in Western Canada

Last year, for the first time, Live Elevator grain buyers were asked to estimate the percentage of the total oat acreage, in their own districts, occupied by different oat varieties. A total of 2,356 Acres completed and returned variety survey forms. A brief summary of the survey follows:

Manitoba. In 1946, the percentage of the total oat acreage occupied by the recommended varieties, namely, Vanguard (43.2%), Ajax (29.7%), and Excelsior (4.5%), was 77.4 per cent. For 1947, Vanguard, Ajax, and Excelsior are the officially approved varieties for all Manitoba soil zones, with the exception—Vanguard is not recommended for Zone 2A (Red River Valley).

Saskatchewan. The three recommended varieties—Victory (39.2%), Ajax (18.6%), and Excelsior (1.4%)—occupied only 59.2% of the total Saskatchewan oat acreage in 1946. The percentage of the acreage devoted to non-recommended varieties was as follows: Banner, 21.0%; Vanguard, 11.4%; Gopher, 5.5%; and others, 2.9%. In 1947, Victory, Ajax, and Excelsior are again the officially recommended varieties for Saskatchewan.

Alberta. Victory is the most popular oat variety in Alberta. In 1946, it occupied 39.0% of the total oat acreage. Banner (21.0%), Legacy (6.7%), and certain other approved varieties, were grown on 34.8% of the acreage. Only 6.0% of the 1946 Alberta oat acreage was devoted to non-recommended varieties. Victory, Ajax, Legacy, Laramie, Eagle, and Banner (Zone 4 only) are recommended for 1947.

Prairie Provinces. In 1946, the percentage of the total oat acreage in Western Canada occupied by different varieties was as follows: Victory, 39.5%; Banner, 21.1%; Ajax, 16.3%; Vanguard, 14.0%; Gopher, 4.2%; and others, 7.9%. Information on the varieties of oats officially recommended for your particular district in 1947 can be obtained from your local Agricultural Representative, or nearest Dominion Experimental or Illustration Station. Treatment of all oat seed planted in Western Canada in 1947 is strongly recommended.

Search is Underway for E. B. Bottles

E. B. Bottles, believed hiding in attics, basements and garages became subject for intensive search by Raymond citizens.

Commonly known by the full name of Empty Beer Bottles, this culprit is responsible for the present shortage of bottled brewery products, and consequently a reward of 20 cents per dozen is being offered for successful apprehension.

Housewives are taking the lead in this search for E. B. Bottles, realizing that recovery will serve a three-fold purpose. It will help consumers get more of their favorite beverages; it will provide more space in cupboards, pantries, basements and garages, and it will put badly needed bottles back on the job and enable bottlers to continue full operation.

All citizens are urged to be on the look out for the fugitive. His favorite haunting places around the home should be thoroughly searched, and in the event of apprehension, Deliveries Ltd., Agents for Alberta Brewing Industry, should be notified.

CASH REWARD WAITING

Arrangements have been made in the cities for taking "Bottles" into custody at the place he is discovered, and escorted to depot. Cash reward will be paid at the scene of arrest amounting to 20 cents per dozen. Freight agents are co-operating and all rural vigilantes need to do is turn "Bottles" over to one of these agents and he will be escorted collect to nearest Deliveries Limited Depot at Camrose, Calgary, Blairmore, Banff, Drumheller, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge or McLennan.

Eddie started his job today!

THE MANAGER of the furniture factory in Eddie's town landed a big order. It meant he had to buy a lot of extra lumber, increase his payroll.

He lost no time in putting the whole thing up to the manager of his local bank. Together they worked out how much money he would need to take care of wages and other costs until he delivered the goods.

Then, with the backing of his bank, he got to work on the order.

And that's where Eddie came in. He was put on the payroll—given his first chance to learn a trade. Right now he's on his way home to tell Mom and Dad how much he likes his new job.

USE LESS PAINT AND SAVE WITH

Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT

Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT covers solidly more square feet of surface per gallon, wears longer and actually costs less to use than cheap paints. And here is why! Recognized laboratory tests show that many "cheap" paints contain as much as 63% of water and other evaporating liquids—and only 37% of protective film-forming solids. But Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT contains 90% of surface protecting, film-forming solids. That's why it costs less to use—why it spreads evenly and saves time and money.

"Desire to Serve-plus Ability."

HISTORY OF RAYMOND

By ELIZABETH KING

As the twentieth century dawned money from Uncle Jesse's mines was pouring into his coffers, and he began looking around for a favorable opportunity to exercise his stewardship. Already strong in his desire to render service to humanity he received further stimulation from President Lorenzo Snow's new century "Greeting to the World". One paragraph from this marvelous message was especially impressive; he felt that it was a direct appeal to him:

"Men and women of wealth, use your riches to give employment to the laborer! Take the idle from the crowded centres of population and place them on the untilled acres that await the hand of industry. Unlock your vaults, unloose your purses and embark in enterprises that will give work to the unemployed, and relieve the wretchedness that leads to the vice and crime which curse your great cities, and that poison the moral atmosphere around you. Make others happy, and you will be happy yourselves."

Among the many propositions that were brought to his attention was one from Apostle John W. Taylor and Charles McCarthy of Alberta, telling him of the rich land in Alberta, Canada, and urging him to buy. The scheme appealed to him and he sent his two sons, Raymond and Will to Canada, to make an investigation. While there they contacted Honorable C. A. Magrath, who had served as a member of the Canadian Parliament, and was a person of the highest quality of character. He was well acquainted with the country, and represented the Canadian North West Irrigation Company. He accompanied the young men back to Salt Lake City.

The following account of their visit to Alberta and the return to Salt Lake City is quoted from Mr. Magrath's book "The Galls":

In January 1901, two young men, Raymond and William Knight, came north from Utah, and spent a short time looking over the country east of Cardston. I met them when passing through Lethbridge on their way home and decided to accompany them south as there seemed a possibility of disposing of some land when they met their father. I got off the train at Salt Lake City and they continued to Provo, returning the next morning with their father, Jesse Knight—a man for whom I afterwards learned to have the highest respect. Mr. Knight was very direct. I was asked to produce a map and the sons were called upon to show him the lands that they had examined, which happened to be a block of some 30,000 acres near Spring Coulee. He then asked them a few questions about the character of the land. Both agreed it was wonderful grass country, but the younger one feared there was something wrong, as he could not understand there being so much grass without cattle to eat it. Turning to me, he wanted our price and terms. I believe our figure was $2.50 per acre and all I was expecting was the possibility of the sale of two sections, of 1280 acres. To my utter amazement, he said, "I will take the entire block," and I believe the whole transaction did not take half an hour. That property afterwards became the K2 Ranch. As related by Mr. Magrath, Father purchased 30,000 acres near Spring Coulee in Alberta, Canada. Ray and I went to Canada at once and before long had purchased 4000 head of yearling steers and placed them on the new ranch land recently acquired.

It might be of interest to relate somewhat in detail just how these cattle were purchased. After deciding that we would buy 2000 head of steers, Ray Knight and Dick Kinsey went to Winnipeg to purchase them. The cattle were received at the railroad stockyards east of Lethbridge where our camp was located. A small crew of men awaited the arrival of the shipments. We unloaded and branded the cattle soon after they arrived. They came in train lots generally in rather bad condition on account of having been on the train so many hours without food or water. To make the task of unloading more difficult the cattle generally came after midnight and in a rain storm. As soon as the cattle arrived they were unloaded, watered and allowed to graze on the prairie before they were brought back to the chutes for branding. (To be continued next week.)

The cattle had to be held in separate herds night and day on the open prairie as there were no fenced fields to hold them, and our ranch was thirty miles away. To do this was difficult. Some of the men had to keep the branded cattle from the unbranded ones which were coming in every few days. Our Utah horses and men were completely worn out on account of the strenuous work they had to do day and night. Our bedding was damp, the water and slush in the corrals was almost ankle deep, and yet the train loads of cattle continued to arrive at all hours of the night. We had already received over 2000 head of cattle that Ray had purchased, but they continued to arrive, increasing our difficulty each day.

In the midst of all this, one night most of the Utah horses got away and started for the States. Wilson McCarthy, an employee, then there had volunteered to find the lost horses. He left in a great hurry. We did not see him again until late the next night, but when he returned he brought back the horses. This experience for a young man was enough to discourage most adult persons. After finding the horses late at night over thirty miles from

FEW ACQUIRE ART OF LETTER WRITING

The craft of writing can be taught. Through practice and criticism young people of ordinary intelligence can acquire the technique of clear and orderly statements just as certainly as they can be taught to read and to multiply.

Training in writing will not make every boy and girl a literary artist or anything remotely resembling one, but it will produce competent craftsmen. Most college graduates, to judge from their letters, are not competent writers, not because they're deficient in intelligence but because their training has been neglected. They have had too little criticism of their writing and the standard of accomplishment in the courses they have taken has been set far too low.

GARDEN NOTES

Warm Weather Planting

There are certain plants that will not thrive until weather and soil really turn warm and there is no danger of frost. These are things like gladiolus, dahlias and other soft, tender stemmed flowers, and corn, tomatoes, melons, squash, cucumbers, etc., among the vegetables. There is nothing to be gained by setting out or planting these until the weather is warm, also the soil. Frost will kill most of them or injure them so badly that they will take weeks to recover.

Where space is limited melons and squash, etc., can be grown along the row of corn or at the edge of the garden where they will trail over the fence, path or perhaps the plot of the next-door neighbour. For best results, however, cucumbers, squash and melons should be planted in specially prepared hills.

Hills are simply loose soil built up in mounds 2 or 3 feet across and about 6 inches high. Into these should be worked some well-rotted manure or black mulch. This keeps the soil open so that the soft, fibrous roots can penetrate easily and the darkish color of the mulch or well-rotted manure absorbs the heat of the sun which these plants love.

Plant about five seeds to a hill. Later thin to about three plants to each group. Keep weeds cleared away, watch out for bugs, and to encourage early fruiting nip off end of vines when half a dozen melons or a dozen or so squash or cucumbers are on the way.

Keep Tools Sharp

Good sharp tools will save a lot of hard work. A dull spade or hoe never do the work efficiently. A few of the special tools, too, will prove helpful—things like Dutch hoes, hand cultivators and long-handled spudders to get out weeds. Under the general heading of labor savers will be weed killers like the new 2-4-d and some of the DDT insect sprays or dusts. These do the job with little effort.

Tender Vegetables

The real secret of tender, crisp vegetables is quick, unchecked growth. Beets, carrots, beans, celery and similar things without stringiness or tough cores come from gardens where growth has been hurried along, unchecked by weeds or other neglect. By keeping the soil well cultivated quick growth can be developed almost regardless of dry weather. Thin those vegetables which need spacing for proper, even and speedy development. Harvest them when they are the right size for eating and before they start to harden and mature.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

HEALTH NECESSITY IS PROPER SLEEP

Shakespeare must have had a good night's rest when he wrote: "Sleep that knits up the ravelled sleeve of care."

Doctors confirm the immortal bard's observation...for sleep is vital to health. It restores energy, rests the muscles and nerves, and tones the blood vessels.

Some people seem to get along with as little as five or six hours' sleep a night...but most of us feel better after a sleep of eight hours' duration. If you have a feeling of always being tired, it may not be due to lack of sleep. The family doctor should be consulted as something may be wrong with your health.

Try to relax first—then sleep will usually follow. You might like to try these rules.

1. Start taking it easy half an hour before retiring. (Play some game, plan an excursion for the weekend, write a letter to a friend. Take a hot drink—hot milk or cocoa, for example.)
2. If you like to read in bed, choose non-fiction or a "hard" book. Something that will bore you to sleep.
3. Rest your mind by thinking of pleasant things—some happy incident during the day, some enjoyable incident of your childhood—anything to make your mind calm and serene.
4. To quieten the body, get rid of heavy pressure. (Lighten weight of covers and clothes if they are oppressive.)
5. Take a tepid bath without a rub-down. As the body becomes warmed in bed it becomes more and more comfortable. If during the night one becomes restless, throw back the covers until body becomes slightly cooled. Then when the covers are pulled up again, the body once more sinks into coziness.)
6. Relax the muscles completely.
7. Be sure your sleeping room is ventilated properly.

When your BACK ACHES...

Backache is often caused by lazy kidney action. When kidneys get out of order excess acids and poisons remain in the system. Then backache, headache, rheumatic pain, disturbed rest or that 'tired out' feeling may soon follow. To help keep your kidneys working properly—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. WHY CLOTH WAS NAMED WORSTED

According to the Wall Street Journal spelling the difference between high or low production, the distinction between worsted and woolen cloth never has been so important. "Worsted" is the name given a hard-finish cloth by William the Conqueror in 1066 when he observed the Britons making it. He had just worsted the Britons, so whimsically he called the cloth "worsted".

Worsted cloth is made from longer length and combed woollen fibres, twisted into yarn, and then woven into a smooth, hard cloth such as serge. It is durable, keeps its shape well, and is especially popular for men's suits.

Woolen cloth, on the other hand, is made of shorter wool fibres—often of those fibres not suitable for worsted yarns. Woven into tweeds, shot-lands and flannels, it has a soft, fleecy look. Woolens often make a nice appearance, but aren't as durable and don't retain their press as well as worsteds.

It took 13 years to build Brooklyn Bridge.

LITTLE REGGIE

PEGGY

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

CENTURY OF PROGRESS

By M. J. COLLINS

DAD and I were thinning out turnips in the turnip patch near the line fence between Old Man Murphy's place and ours.

"Now I wonder what's up?" Dad said with surprise as he leaned on his hoe and looked across the field towards the Murphy place. Two cars were driving up the Murphy's lane. Of course this was a long time ago so you know what the cars were like—high touring cars, model T Fords.

We went on with our hoeing and after a while one of the cars drove away. Shortly after that Old Man Murphy hurried across the fields towards us.

"Bought me a car, Tom," he said, clambering over the rail fence.

"A car!" Dad exclaimed, as if we'd never even noticed them driving up the lane. "What do you want with one of those things? You don't know the first thing about them."

"Nothin' to it," George Murphy said boastfully. "This is the century of progress, us farmers got to keep up with it."

"Sounds like the salesman was stringing you," Dad said dryly. "What else did he tell you?"

"Got her all writ down," Old Man Murphy continued enthused. "All I got to do is follow what it says. Can't make a mistake driving it. C'mon over and see it," he invited.

"I think I will," Dad accepted, throwing his hoe down between the ridges. "Let's go, Rick, maybe we'll get around to buying one some day."

"What did you pay for it, George?" he asked as we headed towards the Murphy place.

"Well—she cost a pretty penny, yeasir, a pretty penny! But don't think she's not worth it. Seven hundred dollars, every cent of it."

The youngest Murphy girl was out sort of fondling the car and cooing over it, at least that's the nearest way to describe it, when we arrived. "Migosh, it's high!" Dad looked at it with misgivings. "I'd be afraid the wind would blow it over."

I got in the front seat to have a good look at things but Maggie Murphy gave me such dirty looks that I got out again.

"Let's see," Old Man Murphy had dug a sheet of paper out of his pocket. "You push in this, pull out that, advance the spark and gas—what does advance mean, Tom?"

"Pull them down," Dad answered. "Step on this—and that's all there is to it. Want to go for a ride?" he offered. "I'm going out in the hay field and drive around to get the hang of it."

Dad shook his head. "Go ahead, we'll watch." That stopped me from saying I'd go.

Old Man Murphy got in. "Well, here goes!" He grinned.

I was watching everything he did. With a roar the car leaped into sudden motion, kicking up dirt and gravel. George Murphy looked more surprised than anyone. The car lurched out into the field and roared around it. As he went by he yelled something unintelligible at us.

"Well," Dad said sitting down on the edge of the Murphy verandah. "Looks like Old George has got the hang of it."

He whizzes by again and yells at us, we waved gaily back. Everytime he went by he yelled. A gust of wind blew a piece of paper by and Dad fairly pounced on it.

"Good gosh, old George has lost the instructions!"

The car went roaring by again with old George hanging on for dear life.

"Turn the key off," Dad roared but the car was making so much noise I don't think George could have heard Gabriel blow his trumpet even if he'd been sittin' in the back seat.

Around and round went the car, faster and faster, swaying and rolling like a thing possessed.

"Stop the dam thing! Stop it!" Old George roared at the top of his voice.

Maggie became so excited that she jumped up and down like she was standing on a hornet's nest.

Crash! The car went through the rail fence and into our turnip patch.

"Look after Maggie!" Dad shouted as he sprinted across the field.

She was out cold and as heavy as a log. I dashed into the house and got a dipper of water and soused her. Boy, she came to in a hurry and took a nasty swipe at me. If it had of connected it would have knocked me into the middle of next week.

"Oh, my poor, poor father," she sobbed scrambling to her feet.

SAVED BY DOGS FROM BEAR'S FANGS—But for the timely assistance of his two faithful dogs, Joe Joice of Chials, Alta., might have been killed by a wounded and enraged bear. Joice was out hunting in the bush country around his home recently when the dogs suddenly discovered a bear in his den, apparently just awakened from his winter nap. Joice shot the bear four times but somehow failed to get in a fatal shot. The enraged animal jumped out of his den and headed straight for Joice. Unable to reload in a hurry, Joice started to run. But he was wearing snowshoes and tripped. In a flash the bear was upon him, biting the man's right leg, his left thigh, his left arm and mauling him badly. Joice screamed and the dogs rushed to the rescue, sinking their teeth into the bear's hind legs. The bear let go his victim, jumped over him and ran off with the dogs in pursuit. Although bleeding freely, Joice managed to make his way about a mile and a half to the camp of a friend.

Dad came back helping Old George. He looked more than a little pale around the gills. He kept clutching at his chest and moaning. "Oh, my heart! Oh, my heart!"

We got him into the house, he had aged ten years. Maggie flitted nwny and got his favorite medicine—a small glass—that helped his heart.

"How d'you feel now, George?" Dad asked.

"I'm a mite better now," he said cautiously. "That—that deathtrap!" He shook his fist in the direction of the car. "Hitch up the team, Tom, we'll haul it up on the threshing-floor, I'm through with that—" George called the Ford several names and the name car certainly wasn't mentioned once.

"It's sure some contraption," Dad said but he made no move to go and get the horses. "Take a horse man to handle one of them."

Old George swelled up at that.

"Yes, sir. A Brave man."

"But I wouldn't be surprised if it cut about twenty years off a man's life," Dad added slyly. That made old George clutch at his heart and Maggie did a little more flitting.

"Want to buy it, Tom? It's in your turnip patch," Old Man Murphy suddenly suggested.

Father shook his head. "I haven't got the nerve to drive it, George."

"I'm an old man, Tom," George pleaded and right there as far as he was concerned the century of progress slipped into reverse.

With just the right shade of reluctance father let George talk him into buying the car. I didn't say a word. I knew what Dad was up to. He finally said he'd buy it and got it for three hundred dollars less than Murphy had paid for it.

As we headed back towards our turnip patch Dad was pleased with himself. "Never know what'll happen when you're hoeing turnips, eh son?" (Copyright Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate)

Prospects Of New War Is Remote

OTTAWA.—After consulting various factors with the unemotional logic of the military analyst, one of the higher officers involved in Canada's defence planning estimated that the odds were 100-1 against any devastating air assault on high priority targets on the North American continent within the next 10 years.

In an interview setting out his own personal conclusions, Col. W. W. Goforth, retiring deputy director of defence research, said he felt that odds against a major war would start at 200-1 against in 1947, decline steadily until 1961-62 and would give way to "a steady lessening of tension and risk after 1962."

Col. Goforth is returning to private business in Toronto after being the right hand man of Dr. O. M. Solandt, director-general of defence research, who sanctioned his statements.

"INVASION" WIRE COMING TO CANADA

TAPLOW, Buckinghamshire, England.—The "pyramids", 50,000 tons of barbed wire prepared for the invasion of Europe and which lay rustling for seven years, are going to Canada.

But Victor Hardwood, who purchased the wire from the British Government and accepted the overseas offer, has had his troubles converting his investment.

He originally intended to have the wire melted into steel ingots, but Britain had no presses sufficiently powerful. When the Canadian purchaser showed up, so did innumerable shipping transport problems. Dock workers and stevedores demanded "dirt" and "bending" money for handling the wire. The obstacles now have been surmounted.

TURKEY CONTRIBUTED TULIP TO EUROPE

The tulip was first introduced into Europe from Turkey in the sixteenth century. After 1634 an outbreak of tulip growing in Holland, called "tulipomania", made the Dutch famous exporters of bulbs. Sometimes as much as $5,000 was paid for a single bulb at that time. Now we can have more perfect blooms for a little work and a few cents.

China is about a third larger than continental United States. It is 1,860 miles from north to south and more than 2,000 miles east to west.
